MOSES SPEAKS IS STILL AT LARGE

All Efforts to Locate Him Unsuccessful.

Officers Believe That High Point Murderer Has Gone To Mountains—Was Traced Within Few Miles of Winston—Had Knife In Hand About Noon Saturday—Arrest of Man Causes Excitement In Randolph—Reward Offered.

Moses Speaks, the High Point man who murdered his wife and son-in-law with a butcher knife Saturday morning is still at large, despite every effort put forth by the officers to arrest him. It is now believed that he has gone to the mountains and officers will scour Yadkin, Davie, Iredell and Wilkes, in which counties he has relatives, in hopes of bringing him to justice.

A message from High Point yesterday afternoon stated that the members of the Board of County Commissioners had agreed to offer a reward of $50 for the arrest of the murderer and Gov. Kitchin has been asked to duplicate the reward.

Deputy Sheriffs Crutchfield and Shaw spent yesterday scouring the country around High Point, returning last night. They stated that they traced Speaks to within a few miles of Winston, learning that he stopped at the home of a Mr. Still for dinner Saturday. He appeared considerably nervous and ate but little. He was also somewhat bloody. At the time Mr. Still had not heard of the murder. Another party saw him in that vicinity just before the noon hour. He was carrying his knife in his hand.

The officers are of the opinion that Speaks was making for the mountain section of Wilkes, Yadkin, Davie or Iredell, having relatives in each of these counties. The officers of the several counties have been notified to be on the lookout and Speaks' arrest is hourly expected. Officers will go down this morning and make every effort to locate the murderer.

Sunday morning a person partly filling the description was arrested by a citizen of Randolph and held for the officers, but it was found that it was not Speaks. The rumor that the murderer had been arrested caused no little excitement in High Point.

As was stated in Sunday's Telegram Speaks was confined in the county jail something over a year ago. He was later carried to the asylum at Raleigh and at the first opportunity took French leave of the institution. Next heard from he was in Massachusetts, where he remained until about 6 months ago. He returned to High Point and was apparently in his right mind and no effort was made to have him recommitted to the asylum. He is reported as having been a most brutal husband and father, but his family overlooked his shortcomings along this line in order to live as peacefully as possible with him. The general impression in High Point is that there was more meanness in his brain than insanity.

Better Stock As Well As Better Roads Desirable.

Mr. R. J. Holden, who lives east of town on the McConnell road, is a believer in good roads and participated in Saturday's good roads meeting in this city. But as a stockholder of the Greensboro Breeders' Association, he says that good stock, as well as good roads, is needed. He showed the reporter a picture of a very fine stallion owned by the breeders' association. The horse cost a pretty pile of money. "Clydesdale" is his name. He was the pick of the famous Maywood Stock Farm, of Indianapolis. Mr. Holden says that he feels that his association was especially fortunate in gaining the ownership of this splendid specimen of horseflesh.

Pythian Anniversary.

At Westminster Presbyterian church Sunday morning there was a large delegation of Pythians from the lodges of the city, the occasion being the anniversary of the founding of the order. There was special music appropriate to the occasion by the choir. The pastor, Rev. C. E. Hodgins, before beginning his sermon spoke of the growth of the order, there being at present over 700,000 Pythians in the United States, 10,000 in North Carolina and over 500 in Greensboro. Rev. Mr. Hodgins preached an able sermon from Romans 8:28.

BROADEN SCOPE OF Y. W. C. A. WORK

This afternoon at 5 o'clock in the Y. W. C. A. rooms will be held a meeting of a number of prominent citizens of the city in the interest of the association work. The object of the meeting will be to devise plans whereby the financial side of the organization can be placed on a solid basis and provide funds for greatly enlarging the scope of its work, in addition to doing its present work. Capt. F. N. Taylor, chief of the fire department, is in receipt of the following letter relative to a donation which he says the department receives with sentiments of sincere appreciation:

Mr. F. N. Taylor, Chief of Fire Department.

Dear Sir: Enclosed am sending you check for $20.00 for the part of your department that helped in keeping down the fire in writers' store night before last. We very much admire the unselfish efforts of the men in trying to locate and extinguish the fire and wish to show our appreciation in this manner. Yours very truly, R. C. CASWELL SHOULD BE INTERESTED

Mr. James C. DeLancey Shows Wherein the Citizens of That County Should Co-operate Heartily In the Movement For a Railroad From Here To Roxboro.

Mr. James C. DeLancey, of McLeansville, is a believer in the possibilities of the proposed new railroad from this city to Roxboro and in a letter to the Reidsville Review urges the people of Caswell county to encourage the enterprise with all their might. His letter to the Review is as follows:

"A few weeks ago I wrote my Rockingham friends a letter through your valuable columns; now I wish to direct this in a special manner to my Caswell friends in regard to a proposed railroad beginning at Greensboro via Company Mills, connecting at Roxboro with the Norfolk and Western, later connecting with the Seaboard Air Line near Norlina.

"This proposed road will traverse the Southern part of Caswell county, with the proper interest taken could easily be pulled further into her domains. Let me say to you, my friends, wake up to the better interests of your section, invite progress and prosperity by encouraging such enterprises as this proposed road. Caswell county, before the Civil War, ranked among the very first counties of our state. Visit this section now and you find a very small percentage of the old homesteads belonging to the same families and in many cases very careless tenants occupying the old homesteads. Everything seems dilapidated. We ask the question, why is this decline? The old darkey over the old fence answers, 'Old Marsa and old Missus, dey done gone away to Greensboro or somewhar. Dey said dey could get better 'vantages dar en dey lef' us."

"The reason for all this is very evident. Caswell is, so to speak, almost shut off from the commerce of the world because of her poor facilities for transportation. Here is an opportunity to bless the grand section in which you live by encouraging this proposed railroad. It will increase the value of your products by putting them in touch with the market at the proper time. It will increase your real estate and natural resources by furnishing desirable locations for manufacturing enterprises and that will of itself bring capital into your midst.

"Let us all pull together for the new railroad and invite progress and prosperity."

REVENUE BILL IN THE HOUSE

Was Discussed at Length Yesterday.

Measure Finally Went Over For Further Consideration Today—Was Considered by House As a Committee of the Whole—Bill Now On Second Reading—Several Amendments Offered.

Raleigh, Feb. 20.—At 12:30 the House on motion of Representative Doughton, who as chairman of the finance committee, is in charge of the bill, went into committee of the whole to consider the revenue bill before putting it through its second reading. Mr. Ray, of Macon, was made chairman of the committee of the whole. The bill was taken up by sections and amendments offered and considered as each was read.

Section one of the bill as to kind of money in which taxes shall be collected was adopted. Sections two and three as to poll and property tax stirred much discussion and varied amendments all of which were in the end withdrawn. Mitchell, of Wayne, wanted to increase the school tax from 18 to 22 cents. Koonce of Onslow would amend to raise the rate for pensions from 4 to 10 cents and the school rate from 18 to 25 cents. Mr. McGill offered an amendment to raise the pension rate from 4 to 8 cents.

Chairman Doughton of the committee explained that the revenue bill had been prepared with the greatest care and with a view to all phases of the situation and limitations and he did not believe it could be amended to any equitable advantage. The amendments offered, if adopted, would increase the state tax from 43 1-3 to 56 1-3 cents, leaving only 10 cents and a fraction rate for the counties under the constitutional limit. The counties are finding it hard to get along on the 23 2-3 cent rate now allowed and certainly could not manage on the 10 2-3 cent rate that would be left for them. The only way to get the much-needed additional money that the amendments seemed to want to reach was out of the general fund in the state treasury.

This statement from Mr. Doughton caused the withdrawal of the McGill and the Mitchell amendments with the understanding that the additional funds they desired would be left to the appropriations committee. They did not want to make undue inroads on the counties.

Mr. Connor, of Wilson, offered an amendment to section 3 by reducing the general levy from 21 to 20 cents and increasing the school levy from 18 to 19 cents. This, he suggested, would help to encourage the counties to put their property assessments as high as possible since it is schools and pensions that drain the general fund of the state most in the direction of the "pauper counties."

General J. S. Carr, of Durham, spoke eloquently and at length on North Carolina's ability to do far more than she does for the old soldier and declared that if his bill pending for a state tax commission and for the equalization of taxes were passed there would be revenue a plenty and to spare to do the ample part by all and provide even a million dollars for the old soldiers.

Representative Ashley Horne also paid tribute to the old soldiers and the need there is for the fullest possible aid for them in their failing years.

Mr. Ross of Harnett, opposed the Connor amendment. The population of the county should enter into the school tax consideration and he favored the present state appropriations for schools on the per capita basis.

Mr. Gay, of Northampton, advocated the Connor amendment as guaranteeing four months' schools without raiding the treasury of the state for this purpose. Mr. Doughton feared the Connor amendment would hurt the old soldiers and the Koonce amendment the schools and the votes on amendments that quickly followed defeated both and all other pending amendments. The committee then arose and reported progress which was the passage of the three first sections of the bill without change. And the development, furthermore, of a sentiment for making practically no changes in the bill as it has come from committee. The report was concurred in by the House.

The revenue bill was again made special order for Tuesday morning at the expiration of the morning hour.

PHYSICIANS' POST GRADUATE SCHOOL

Doctors Organize In Order To Study Organs of Body and Functions In Order That They May Become More Efficient In Combating Disease.

At a meeting held Saturday night a number of physicians of the city organized a post-graduate school of medicine, the object being to increase the efficiency of the physicians of the city in combating disease. The physicians present were most enthusiastic and officers were elected and a committee appointed to arrange for the details and nominate teachers for the several courses. The first meeting will be held on Monday evening, March 6, at a place to be decided on by the committee on arrangements.

The various organs of the body will be studied and discussed separately, the functions of each organ being brought out in the plainest possible manner. In fact the idea is to take up each organ and after the teacher lectures for three quarters of an hour have a general discussion for the same length of time. This method will no doubt prove most beneficial to all members.

The officers of the school are Parran Jarboe, president; A. F. Fortune, vice president; Chas. E. Moore, secretary-treasurer. Permanent quarters will be secured and the county medical society will be invited to use the quarters for the monthly meetings.

Those present Saturday night were Drs. Jarboe, Fortune, Roberson, Dodson, Reeves, Cole, Beall, Moseley, Long, Ross, J. A. Williams, Banner, Moore. The physicians of the city and county are urged to become members of the school as the doctors who organized are of the opinion that all will be benefited by such a course of study.

FOR MRS. CRADDOCK

Enjoyable Valentine Party In Her Honor Given by Mrs. Long, of Oxford.

The following is from the Oxford Public Ledger and will be of interest to the many friends of Mrs. Long, who was Miss Blanche May of this city:

"One of the prettiest and most enjoyable parties of the week was the Valentine party on Tuesday afternoon given by Mrs. W. J. Long, in honor of her sister, Mrs. L. W. Craddock, of Greensboro, N. C. At the door the guests were welcomed by Miss Mary B. Williams, Mrs. Long and Mrs. Craddock receiving in the hall. The punch bowl beautifully decorated with white ferns and pink carnations, was presided over by Misses Edna White and Mary Webb, the color scheme of pink and green being carried out in the decoration and attractive Valentine score cards which were used for the enthusiastic game of hearts, at the conclusion of which a tempting two course luncheon was served, further carrying out the color scheme of pink and green and hearts shapes. The salad course was excellent and the rich treat of superior ice-cream with luscious fresh strawberries and elegant cakes was very enjoyable.

"Beautiful heart shape boxes of candy and pink carnations were presented the guests. Those who enjoyed Mrs. Long's hospitality were:

"Messdames P. H. Montgomery, L. W. Stark, J. R. Hall, William Landis, A. A. Chapman, W. G. Pace, C. H. Easton, N. H. Cannady, E. T. Rawlins, W. H. Hunt, Samuel Worthington, of Wilson, N. C.; James S. Rogers, J. C. Robards, W. W. Phelps, T. H. Chavasse, E. H. Crenshaw, C. D. Elmore.

TO INVESTIGATE SALE OF ROAD

To Southern And Atlantic Coast Line.

Corporation Commission To Ascertain If Sale of Atlantic and Yadkin Railroad, Wilmington To Mt. Airy, Was Legal—Investigation At Request of Wilmington Chamber of Commerce—If Sale Is Set Aside It Will Mean Much For Greensboro.

The State Corporation Commission today will begin an investigation to ascertain whether the sale of the Atlantic & Yadkin railroad, formerly known as the C. F. & Y. V. road, to the Southern and the Atlantic Coast Line Companies was legal. This investigation is a result of resolutions passed by the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce some days ago, requesting that this investigation be made and the results handed the attorney general for a decision as to the legality of the sale.

The Greensboro Chamber of Commerce has been requested by the Wilmington organization to assist in the investigation and it is expected that Greensboro will be represented at the hearing, or investigation today. It is stated that the charter of the company provided that the road was to remain as a whole and that the division makes the sale illegal. The portion of the road from Sanford to Wilmington was sold to the A. C. L. and from Sanford to Mt. Airy, to the Southern. In case the road was illegally sold an effort will be made to have it returned to its former owners, the Atlantic and Yadkin Company. In case this should be done it would give Greensboro an independent line, connecting with the Norfolk & Western at Madison, the Seaboard Air Line and Atlantic Coast Line at Wilmington, and provide competition in freight rates.

EVENING WITH TENNYSON.

Enjoyable Program by Epworth League of West Market Street M. E. Church.

The Epworth Leaguers of West Market Street church honored the great poet Tennyson last evening by giving a program consisting entirely of his poems, which were rendered in recitation and song.

Miss Harris had arranged a delightful and illuminating article on Tennyson's Lyric poems, which she read as the opening number. The quartet, "Sweet and Low" sung by four young ladies, was one of the very best numbers of the evening. Mrs. Banner, always enjoyed by those so fortunate as to hear her, sang "Ask Me No More" and "Crossing the Bar." Miss Byrne sang "Tear, Idle Tears" with expression and to the delight of the many present. Mrs. Charles Ireland is a reader who gives evidence of an interpretative mind and a heart responsive and obliging. She read "Dora." Messrs. Clapp, Lawson, and Peel sang Ring Out, Wild Bells. There were refreshments served at the close of the Tennyson program, and everyone passed the hour most pleasantly and profitably.

Thanks From Moravian Aid Society.

The Philatheas together with the Busy Bee Circle of the Moravian church wish to return their sincere thanks to the public for their patronage Friday and Saturday, especially to those who kindly donated to our cause. The attendance was very good, considering the fact that there were so many attractions in the city, and while the results were not flattering the Philatheas and Aid Society are not discouraged. Mrs. Robak Kerner, chairman.

ENGINEER FANT'S WIFE SAYS GOD TOOK CARE OF HIM.

Atlanta Journal.

David J. Fant, of 400 Capitol avenue, the Southern railway engineer who was on train 36, which was held up and robbed near Gainesville Friday night, has a remarkable record of hair-breadth escapes from wrecks and catastrophes.

To the fact that he is a Christian engineer, a Y. M. C. A. leader and a sincerely devout follower of the lowly Nazarene, Mrs. Fant, his wife, attributes his continued safety. She is never worried when she hears of accidents while her husband is out "on the road."

She sits contentedly by the fire and looks at the big lithographed motto which is the most conspicuous decoration of the room:

"The Eternal God is Thy Refuge. And Underneath are the Everlasting Arms."

Mrs. Fant was at home Saturday morning when reporters called to ask for photographs and any echoes they might pick up about the hold-up. Mrs. Fant was busy helping her pretty little daughter dress a dolly, and her face was the picture of serene contentment. It was passing strange in view of the fact that she had heard there had been a hold-up of her husband's train and that a safe had been dynamited, but hadn't heard a word of detail or anything telling her of her husband's safety. She just "knew" it was all right.

It was the same way, she said, when her husband's engine was overturned and wrecked last year on "North Broad Fill," near Toccoa. He crawled out from that wreck, beneath the hot boiler, through the smoke and seething steam, without a single scratch, without a single hair of his head having been harmed. It came about as near being a miracle as anything that can happen in these modern times.

Mr. Fant, by the way, is just preparing to lead a series of Y. M. C. A. meetings here. He is popular with his fellow-railroad men, and they always flock to hear him speak.

Mrs. Fant is a charming woman, but not one of the prones and prisms pious kind. She doesn't go about intoning nasal psalms, but is the brightest, happiest wife you could find in a long day's journey. Like her husband, she is something of an evangelist, as the reporters found out when they visited her Saturday morning.

"If a railroad engineer can be a Christian, it does look as if even you newspaper reporters might be good boys too—if you try awfully hard," was her parting shot as the scribes bid her a pleasant adieu.

Life Saved at Death's Door.

"I never felt so near my grave," writes W. R. Patterson, of Wellington, Texas, as when a frightful cough and lung trouble pulled me down to 100 pounds, in spite of doctor's treatment for two years. My father, mother and two sisters died of consumption, and that I am alive today is due solely to Dr. King's New Discovery, which completely cured me.

Now I weigh 187 pounds and have been well and strong for years." Quick safe, sure, its the best remedy on earth for coughs, colds, lagrippe, asthma, croup and all throat and lung troubles. 50c. and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by Fariss-Klutznick Drug Co.

This is what Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Ledbetter said on January 22: "Gentlemen: Last night our daughter, age five years, was taken suddenly with pneumonia. She Couldn't Fool Him.
"You have a splendid figure," said the tailor. "I shall have no trouble in giving you an excellent fit."

Feeling fairly well satisfied, the man went to a shoe store.

"Your feet are splendidly shaped and rather small for a man of your size, too," said the clerk. "These shoes are just what you ought to have."

He took them and bought a hat at the hatter's, where he was told that he had such a finely shaped head and such splendid features that the hat which he tried on first was just what he needed to make him look his best.

Then he passed into a large department store and, finding the glove counter, sat down where a pretty young woman was waiting to serve him.

"Just place your elbow on the counter, please," she said. "What a finely shaped hand you have! Let me—"

"Wait!" he commanded. "By George, you can't put that over on me! I used to be the catcher on a baseball team."—Buffalo News.

Could Not Deny It.

"I will ask you," said the lawyer, who was trying to throw doubts on the testimony of a witness, "if you have ever been indicted for any offense against the law?"

"I never have, sir."

"Have you ever been arrested on a charge of any kind?"

"Never."

"Well, have you ever been suspected of committing a crime?"

"I'd rather not answer that question."

"Ha! You would rather not. I thought so. I insist upon your answering it. Have you ever been suspected of crime?"

"Yes, sir; often. Every time I come home from a trip abroad the customs inspectors at New York city suspect me of being a smuggler."—Chicago Tribune.

The Devil of the Desert.

It is not generally known how a devil rides a camel, but Mr. Hans Vicher acquired the information and imparts it in his volume, "Through the Sahara." One night a camel suddenly ran amuck. Other camels followed suit and a general panic ensued. "The frightened yells of my escort told me that a ghoul, a wicked demon of the desert, had seized the camel. I was told how these evil spirits sometimes took a fancy to mount a camel; the camel would then look to see who was digging it in the ribs, and, perceiving no one, fear would grip its heart, for then it knew that the devil was on its back."

Malleable Glass of the Egyptians.

Strabo and Josephus both affirm that the Egyptian glass workers were so well skilled in their art that they imitated the amethyst and other precious stones to perfection. Malleable glass was one of the secret arts of the ancients, the formula for making it being now reckoned as lost. Strabo mentions a cup of glass which could be hammered into any desired shape, the material of which it was composed being as ductile as lead.

REVERSING AN ADAGE

By HARVEY DALTON

Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

Force is the basis of everything. Force keeps us moving—indeed, alive. And, strange to say, force is the basis of Christianity. Perhaps what I mean will be plainer when I have told my story.

I had been a clergyman of the Second Presbyterian church in our town for several years when I began to be a doubter. I first doubted the miracles. That's the way all skeptics begin, and they think that if the miracles were out of the way they could believe all the rest. It was hard to get up in the pulpit every Sunday and preach what I didn't believe myself. Finally I applied for a leave on the usual clergyman's ground—a bad throat—and went on a sea voyage.

The ship I sailed in was a tramp. I was told that they had had fine weather for three months. Some of them said they'd be glad to see a hurricane, they had got so tired of sunshine and light breezes. But the day after I got aboard the weather changed, and, sure enough, the hurricane they wanted broke on us furiously. We were three days fighting seas set going by wind traveling at the rate of a hundred miles an hour. We had everything battened down, but the waves pounded out the glass over the cabins and so much water poured into the hold that all hands—passengers and all—were called upon to man the pumps.

During all this never did a sailor pass me but he scowled at me, and occasionally they would gather in knots, talking and shooting malignant glances at me. I didn't know what it meant, and before I found out the wind died down. But it came up again, and we went through three more days of much the same kind of weather. When this second storm was over I was standing on the deck one afternoon looking at a rainbow which seemed to me a bow of promise when a number of sailors headed by an old salt with rings in his ears came up to me, and the old fellow said:

"Parson, we've come to the conclusion that you're bringing these storms on us, and we don't want no more of 'em. We're goin' to pitch you overboard."

Seeing a capstan bar near me, I seized it to use as a means of defense, but a man behind me was too quick for me, and I was held in a titanic grip. This gave the others a chance. They closed and over I went.

The men continued to look over the side of the vessel to see what became of me, especially as that place was alive with sharks, and I had scarcely struck the surface when a big fellow gave a slow flap of his tail and floated toward me. I'm a good swimmer and had no difficulty in keeping on the surface. Besides, I had hung on to the capstan bar, which was enough to float me anyway. The shark came slowly up to me, turned on its side with a view to taking me in, opened wide its scissor jaws and—

Here the turning point of my story comes in. I put one end of the capstan bar on his lower jaw, and, just as the two started to get together, I wedged the other end in just back of his teeth on his upper jaw. And there he was.

I was floating about between the two rows of teeth, hanging on to the middle of the bar. Then when I was satisfied the shark could not bite I just floated out and up to the surface.

Nothing succeeds like success. The sailors who watched what I had done threw lines down to me and hauled me up again on deck.

The first thought that came into my head was the miracle I had most doubted—that of the prophet Jonah. I saw it in a different light than ever before. Hadn't I just been through a more remarkable occurrence? And how had I escaped? By the same way as I had been tossed overboard—force. I made up my mind to stop doubting and go to work. I saw that the sailors, after my experience with the shark, were afraid of me, and I resolved to profit by their fear. I proposed thereafter to preach the gospel peaceably when I could, forcibly when I must. "Every man Jack of you," I thundered, "come aft to prayers!"

I led them to the after deck, not a man refusing to follow, and gave them half an hour's service. I established two services a day, and at every service I read them the story of the prophet Jonah, at the end asking them if any one of them disbelieved it. The first day one man said it was all a lie. I knocked him down. He got up, and I knocked him down again, and he kept getting up and I knocking him down, till at last he said, "I believe you, parson, and I reckon you're the man that lived three days in the whale's belly yourself."

Since then I have believed that force even in our calling is better than persuasion. At any rate, there are cases where persuasion won't work, but force will. And if there is any place where force will work better than persuasion it's among a ship's crew. I remained aboard that ship seven months, and I found the only way to induce the men to believe anything extraordinary was to hammer it into them. I thrashed a man into believing the story of Samson, two men for doubting the story of Joshua making the sun stand still and every man of the crew for ridiculing the falling of the walls of Jericho at the blowing of a ram's horn.

The love of money is the root of many a divided household.

Charlotte is to lose the mint. We had often wondered what Charlotte wanted with an institution that didn't make money.

Let us not forget that henceforth it will be only the city beautiful that will draw the most desirable of those Americans who are seeking new homes.

It is the hen that really lays the golden egg, for the fruit from the barnyard nest is greater each year than all the wealth of the gold mines put together.

It is now stated that Pittsburg's board of education is composed of men who are not only grafters, but who are gamblers, bartenders, and political employees; and that they have the children taken on picnics, where they mingle with women of evil character, behold the antics of wine befuddled men and learn the tricks of gamblers who openly ply the cards on the grounds. The story seems incredible and one cannot see how any city could tolerate such a gang for an hour. But in Pittsburg it is stated that there will not be any arrests made just yet, but that the rascals will be reprimanded and warned to mend their ways! That's Pittsburg.

Says the Norfolk Landmark:

Whatever the people want in the way of governmental reform they can generally get, although they sometimes cry loudly and long against abuses before they rise in their might to remedy them. One thing against which they have been in rebellion for a long time is the obsolete, unequal and unjust fee system of compensating certain public officials. If the temper of the people counts for anything, they are ready to demand that this special evil be abolished. It is a pet device of those in charge of the political machinery of the state, and the organization forces have managed for a time to protect it from the smiting hand of the people.

The fee system is being gradually overthrown and the day is not far distant, we believe, when this relic of the days when public office was a private snap will be completely unknown. Public officials should be suitably compensated, but they should not be compensated beyond rhyme or reason as was so often the case under the old fee system. And the discarding of the fee system in favor of a system more in accordance with the fitness of things is in line with a concession to principles of fair play that is affecting the whole field of enterprise, both public and private. No matter where one turns, one sees the cudgels being applied to greed and avarice. An iniquitous tariff is on the eve of being revised. Unscrupulous manufacturers have been called to book. "Big Business" generally has been warned to respect the rights of the people and is coming to see that it is the part of wisdom to heed the warning. Decency and justice are gaining ground all along the line.

BILL NYE DAY.

Tomorrow is "Bill Nye Day" and also Washington's birthday. In the public schools of the State there are to be appropriate exercises, wherein the children will be told of the great humorist and his work, along with the recital of the cherry tree incident.

Nye was a writer who took delight in making people happy. In his writings one never reads a line that cannot be told to innocent children; and while he bubbles over with wit and humor, he almost invariably points a moral. He never assails personal character or resorts to coarse and violent epithets to evoke laughter and move the passions. He was as pure as a little child, and charitable even to a fault. It is said that he would divide his last dime with a person in need, and always had a kindly word for every one, regardless of caste or social distinction.

How fitting, then, it is that the memory of such a man should be honored in the erection at Concord of a building to be known as the Bill Nye Memorial building, which is to be used for the accommodation of 100 more boys at the Stonewall Jackson Training School for wayward youths!

Bill Nye was not a North Carolinian by birth, but he was an American, and was living in this his adopted State at the time of his death, which occurred in 1896, at Craig-Y-Nos near Asheville. Nye was born in Maine, but, to use his own humorous words, he "at the age of six induced his parents to move to Wisconsin." Later he went to Wyoming, and afterward to New York. He never finally settled down to a quiet home life until he found his way to the mountains of North Carolina; there he was contented, and learned to love the simple, unaffected, and honest-mannered mountain folk, who found in him a sincere friend whom they trusted and honored.

The building to be erected at Concord is to cost not less than $5,000, and is to be built largely with the pennies of the school children. It is to be expected that every one of them will do his duty today.

FROM PROF. HOLT.

Wants To Know If Good Roads Meeting Saturday Accomplished Its Purpose—Also Wants Other Information.

Editor Telegram: Whatever the purpose of the "Good Roads" meeting, it could hardly have ended satisfactorily to its promoters.

Mr. Spoon's address was good but it was no doubt the incident, not the occasion of the call. The meeting was not adjourned; the acting assistant secretary announced at the close of Mr. Spoon's speech that we would all go down as "near the jail as possible" and see Mr. Spoon make a road drag, which would take about an hour after which we would see it in operation. All this came true and no doubt the play was worth the money to the few who waited for the curtain to rise. Most of the "boys" had to "see a man." All this was very well, but most of us were looking for some discussion of "what next?" in the matter of road making in Guilford. We were dangling in the air of expectation.

We were given by-laws to be adopted by local good road clubs to be formed in our respective townships; but whether there is anything about how to get ourselves adjourned after we once meet I have not examined.

Seriously, I think there should have been something definite set out as an objective. A plan was offered whose merits ought at least to have been considered. It was proposed to endorse the bill now before the Legislature but the maker of the motion was induced to hold it up till some indefinite period. As discussed briefly, I confess I do not know what to think of the bill. It does not seem to me to be wise, and I would have been glad to hear it explained. There were other things I wanted to hear, before making up my mind, and I think the people want to hear. How many miles of road were built with the bond issue? How much money was spent after buying the outfit? How much was the cost per mile including grading, culverts, bridges, etc.? How much road have the County Commissioners built "from the stump" as we say? How much was the cost per mile? Does the latter include grading and bridges, culverts, etc.? How much money was spent last year? How much shall we have this year? Can we get along without a bond issue?

Isn't it a little dangerous to ask those townships which have few or no roads built to begin to tax themselves? Was our last undigested road-law of two years ago popular enough to justify another this year emanating from the same source?

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

We want to go forward in the extension of permanent roads, but we ought to be agreed on what we are organizing for, unless it be just for fun, and I do not believe those earnest men who were at the opera house Saturday came just to "see the wheels go around." I stayed the matter through and am not blaming any one in particular. Perhaps under the call all was done that was expected. The public through the papers was led to expect that some action bearing on the future was to be inaugurated. The good roads people of the state had their eyes on Guilford. It looks that we shall have money enough to push forward the work especially if we build more sand-clay roads which Mr. Spoon told us are better in many places than macadam.

Respectfully,
J. ALLEN HOLT.

LAD FATALLY HURT BY TRAIN

Lacy Sheppard, the 13-year-old son of Mr. J. R. Sheppard, of Elon College, died at St. Leo's hospital yesterday morning at 5 o'clock as a result of injuries received by falling under a freight train at Elon College Sunday night. The remains were taken to the undertaking parlors of Huntley-Stockton-Hill Company and prepared for burial, being carried home yesterday afternoon for interment today.

The accident occurred Sunday night shortly after 8 o'clock. A through freight was passing and the lad was either shoved under the train, or fell while attempting to board it. His left leg was severed below the knee and internal injuries were received. The accident occurred in front of the residence of Dr. J. O. Atkinson, who heard the boy's cries and rushed to his aid. The lad was brought to St. Leo's at 10 o'clock and the left leg amputated at the knee in an effort to save his life.

Mr. Frederic Martin who sings with the Metropolitan Grand Concert Co., at the Normal College on Friday night of this week, is easily the greatest oratorio and concert basso in America. Since December last he has sung the no less than eight times in the Messiah with different choral organizations throughout the country. Mr. Martin has toured the country season with the Pittsburgh Festival Orchestra, two seasons with the Chicago Symphony Orchestra and three seasons with the Boston Festival Orchestra and has won enthusiastic approval from the critics, the press and the public.

Of a recent appearance in Richmond, Va., the Times-Dispatch has the following comment: "Martin is the same capable, reliable artist whom we know and like so well. As always he handled his big splendid bass voice with the ease and finesse of the virtuoso."

ALL BORN BAREFOOTED.

In Guilford county, N. C., as elsewhere, all people are born barefooted, consequently we don't expect any falling off in our great footwear trade—in fact, we expect to sell more shoes and slippers this year than ever before. Folks have found out for sure that this store's a good place to buy, and our shoe trade is growing by leaps and bounds. We sell good shoes here and we can afford to sell them cheaper than the exclusive shoe dealers and still make a fair profit. We buy from manufacturers, so you only have to pay one profit when you trade at this store. And then we pay cash down for every dollar's worth of goods we handle, which gives us the biggest sort of advantage over the majority of stores. People like to buy shoes here because they know from past experience that we make good every guarantee and return the cash for unsatisfactory purchases without looking sour about it.

If you are not among our regular customers, we give you a special invitation to come and get acquainted with our goods and the prices. Our new lines for the spring season are coming in, and we will soon have in stock one of the most complete lines of good footwear in the state. Thacker & Brockmann.

Plant bed cloth—plenty of it here now, better get it early, then you will have it when you need it. Thacker & Brockmann.

LAND DEEDED TO GOD.

Odd Instrument Made by Richard George, of North Attleboro, Boston Globe.

A unique instrument was filed a few days ago with the Taunton registrar of deeds by Richard A. George, of North Attleboro, in which a tract of land in New Boston, a suburb of North Attleboro, was conveyed to the Lord of Hosts.

So far as known it was the first instrument filed in New England making such a conveyance.

In the deed the Lord is named as the grantee and the representatives of the Lord in the transaction were Charles Carpenter, E. S. Barstow and A. H. Jamison, all of North Attleboro, who are described in the paper as being trustees of the Christian Workers' Union. The grantor was Richard A. George.

The deed is couched in the ordinary legal expressions and declares that "Richard A. George, of North Attleboro, in consideration of $1 and other valuable considerations paid by the Lord, represented by Charles Carpenter, E. S. Barstow and A. H. Jamison, trustees of the Christian Workers' Union of North Attleboro, the receipt of which is hereby acknowledged, do hereby give, grant, bargain, etc., unto the said Lord and representatives a certain lot of land situated in North Attleboro, on the easterly side of the road known as the new Boston road." Then follows in the deed a more particular description of the property.

The land was purchased in 1904 by the Christian Workers' Union of North Attleboro, but the instrument setting forth the transfer was not presented to be recorded until the past week.

It is supposed that the matter of tax assessments will have to be borne by the trustees of the Christian Workers' Union unless some special exemption from taxation is secured. This will be determined later.

New Boston is a small village some three miles from North Attleboro, on the road to Foxboro. A number of years ago some of the villagers formed a religious society and meetings have since been held by the 25 or 30 members. The body took the name of the Christian Workers' Union.

In 1904 the society decided to erect a small structure as a place of worship. The land was purchased of Richard A. George, one of the members, and he deeded the property to the Creator, naming as temporary custodians the trustees of the union.

Tortured For 15 Years.

by a cure-defying stomach trouble that baffled doctors, and resisted all remedies he tried, John W. Modders, of Moddersville, Mich., seemed doomed. He had to sell his farm and give up work. His neighbors said, "he can't live much longer." "Whatever I ate distressed me," he wrote, "till I tried Electric Bitters, which worked such wonders for me that I can now eat things I could not take for years. Its surely a grand remedy for stomach trouble." Just as good for the liver and kidneys. Every bottle guaranteed. Only 50c at Fariss-Klutz Drug Co.

The fellow who inherits his money and allows it to slip through his fingers, hasn't the cents he was born with.

SPEEDY RELIEF FROM KIDNEY TROUBLE.

"I had an acute attack of Bright's disease with inflammation of the kidneys and bladder and dizziness," says Mrs. Cora Thorp, Jackson, Mich. "A bottle of Foley's Kidney Remedy overcame the attack, reduced the inflammation, took away the pain and made the bladder action normal. I wish everyone could know of this wonderful remedy." Howard Gardner.

Harduppe—"I admit I would do anything for money." Wigwag—"Well, you can't do me for any."

An Open Letter.

Kernersville, N. C., Jan. 4, 1911, Vick's Family Remedies Co., Greensboro, N. C. Gentlemen:—I have used your Croup and Pneumonia Salve for spasmodic asthma and find it superior to anything I have ever tried. I cheerfully recommend it to any one suffering with this disease. Yours truly, Geo. W. Wilson.

An Old Alarm Clock.

At Schramberg, in the Black forest, there is a respectable alarm clock that warned sleepers it was time to get up when Charles I. was king of England. This was made in 1690, and it is deemed a remarkable piece of workmanship. In form it resembles a lantern wherein is a lighted candle, the wick of which is automatically clipped every minute by a pair of scissors. The candle is slowly pushed upward by a spring, which also controls the mechanism of the clock, and at the required hour of waking an alarm is sounded, and at the same time the movable sides of the lantern fall, and the room is flooded with light.

Reasons Why the Great Majestic You Should Buy

- 1st. It has the reputation of being the best range money can buy.
 - 2d. It not only has the reputation but IS the best range made, and we will prove this to you if you will let us.
 - 3d. It is constructed of malleable iron, material you can't beat, and of Charcoal iron, material that resists rust 300 per cent greater than steel, is riveted together air tight. No heat escapes or cold air enters the range, thus uses very little fuel to do perfect work.
 - 4th. The reservoir alone is worth the price of range over any other reservoir made. It boils 15 gallons of water; is heated like a tea kettle, with pocket against left hand lining, and is movable and sets on a frame, hence cannot wear out. When water gets too hot it can be moved away from fire.
- Majestic ranges use less fuel; heat more water—and heat it hotter; costs practically nothing for repairs; lasts three times as long; bakes better; easier to keep clean and gives better satisfaction than any other range on the market. If you know positively that the above statements are true, wouldn't you buy a Majestic at once?
- Come in Demonstration Week and We'll Prove It to You.

One May Overcome

constipation permanently by proper personal co-operation with the beneficial effects of Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna, when required. The forming of regular habits is most important and while endeavoring to form them the assistance of Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is most valuable, as it is the only laxative which acts without disturbing the natural functions and without debilitating and it is the one laxative which leaves the internal organs in a naturally healthy condition, thereby really aiding one in that way. To get its beneficial effects, buy the genuine manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, and for sale by all leading druggists. Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is never classed by the well-informed with medicines which make extravagant and unfounded claims to cure habitual constipation without personal co-operation.

A Card to the Public

When we announced, some 10 days ago, that we were going out of business we did so in good faith, and expected the people to believe us. The tremendous trade we have had, convinces us that the people took us at our word. While we have sold lots of goods we still have lots of them left. There are some $4,000 worth shoes, hats, underwear, shirts, notions and staple dry goods yet to be sold. Some of the very best things are still here, and we must sell them as we have promised to give up the store building between March 1 and 15. We have sold 3 show cases and some other fixtures, but have 2 show cases, window fixtures and safe yet for sale.

Considering the low prices we are making it will be to the interest of every man, woman and child in and near Greensboro to visit our store before March 1.

Do not put it off. We have what you want today. We may not have it tomorrow.

We are POSITIVELY going out of the mercantile business. We have other business that demands all our time and attention.
